AUTHOR INDEX

Volumes 4-7 (1985-1988)

Note: The three numbers in each entry are volume, issue (in parentheses), and the first page of the designated article.

Adams, John D., & Spencer, Sabina. Consulting with the strategic leadership perspective. 5(3):149

Armenakis, Achilles A., & Feild, Hubert S. The development of organizational diagnostic norms: An application of client involvement. 6(1):20

Backer, Thomas E. The future of organizational consulting. 4(1):17

Backer, Thomas E. Commentary on Brown & Fraser's "Planning and shaping of the mental health delivery system of the future." 4(3):232

Backer, Thomas E. Book review. 5(2):137

Backer, Thomas E. Workplace drug abuse programs: Consultation issues and opportunities. 7(4):216

Ball, Geoff. See Talley.

Berg, Per-Olof, & Poulfelt, Flemming. Professionalizing a profession: Increasing the competence of management consultants. 5(4):258

Berger, Mel. Training for organization impact. 6(2):131

Bloom, John W., & Maxwell, M. Susanna. Book review. 4(2):162

Bloom, John W. See also Meggert.

Boss, Leslee Ann. See Boss, R. Wayne.

Boss, R. Wayne. The psychological contract: A key to effective organization development consultation. 4(4):284

© 1988 Human Sciences Press

Boss, R. Wayne, Boss, Leslee Ann, McConkie, Mark L., Corbett, James Michael, Fine, Terry, D., Guerrie, Alan W., & Noffsinger, David P. Organization development in dentistry: A three-year change effort in a group practice. 6(4):236

Boss, R. Wayne, & Boss, Leslee Ann. Team building with nurse managers. 6(4):252

Boss, R. Wayne. See also Grimm.

Brown, Vivian Barnett, & Fraser, Maryann. Planning and shaping of the mental health delivery sytem of the future. 4(3):220

Bushe, Gervase R. See Shani.

Chenault, Joann. Decentralized internal consulting. 5(4):229

Cobb, Anthony T. The politics of consultation. 6(2):71

Cole, Donald W. Invited commentary: International consulting—the development of global organization development and international organization development consulting. 5(2):139

Coman-Johnson, Carol. Intuition: A bona fide occupational requirement in the management consulting profession? 4(3):189

Corbett, James Michael. See Boss.

Covin, Teresa Toyce, & Kilmann, Ralph H. Occupational frame of reference and the identification of critical issues in large-scale change efforts. 7:(3):174

Culbert, Samuel A. Personal alignment and professional commitments. 7(1):55

Cummings, Thomas, & Maxey, Charles. Organization development and labor law: Implications for practice/malpractice. 4(4):331

Delbecq, Andre, & Posner, Barry. Invited commentary: Important challenges that managers will face in the year 2000—Foci for educators and consultants. 6(3):208

Dundon, Mark. Sec Margulies.

Dyer, William G. Invited commentary: Preparing a new consultant. 5(4):278

Eichler, Stephen. Organizing and operating an employee assistance consulting firm. 7(4):228

Empey, Donald W. See Sims.

Fairbanks, Ronald R. Book review. 4(4):344

Feild, Hubert S. See Armenakis.

Filley, Alan. See Weiss.

Filley, Alan C., & Pate, Larry E. Organization type and effective interventions: TRW Systems just ain't the same as Spicer Music Shop. 5(2):103

Fine, Terry D. See Boss.

Finney, Michael. See Lundberg.

Fisher, Robert C., & Thomas, Bethel. The application of a task oriented team building model to a "newly large" organization. 6(3):175

Fottler, Myron D. Invited commentary: Consultation in health care organizations. 4(4):346

Fraser, Maryann. See Brown.

Gattiker, Urs E., & Larwood, Laurie. Why do clients employ management consultants? 4(2):119

Gentry, Jacquelyn H. Mental health education resources. 4(4):343

Gilmore, Thomas, Krantz, Jim, & Ramirez, Rafael. Action based modes of inquiry and the host-researcher relationship. 5(3):160

Ginsberg, Ari. Do external consultants influence strategic adaption? An empirical investigation. 5(2):93

Glassman, Alan M. Consulting terrains: A comparison of the public and private sectors. 4(2):134

Glassman, Alan M. Invited commentary: Organizational Myopia. 7(4):249

Golembiewski, Robert R. Invited commentary: "Promise not to tell"—a critical view of "confidentiality" in consultation. 5(1):68

Golembiewski, Robert T. Contextual specificity in consultation: Similarities and differences between private and public sectors. 6(2):90

Golembiewski, Robert T. Diagnosing health-care providers and their systems: An entry design and its supporting theory. 6(4):265

Goodstein, Leonard. Commentary on Backer's "The future of organizational consulting." 4(1):30

Goodstein, Leonard D. Invited commentary: Some observations on consultation and management. 6(1):63

Gorman, Lillian. Commentary on Gattiker & Larwood's "Why do clients employ management consultants?" 4(2):130

Greiner, Larry E. The consultant as confidant. 7(1):38

Grimm, Robert B., & Boss, R. Wayne. From Egypt to the promised land: A change parable. 7(2):112

Gross, Warren. See Solomon.

Guerrie, Alan W. See Boss.

Hanna, Robert W. Personal meaning: A conceptual framework for organizational consultation. 5(1):24

Harper, Stephen C. See Wright.

Harris, Marilyn, & Walck, Christa L. Managing a megasystem transformation in the Ford Motor Company: A retrospective retrieval of the progress of cultural change. 7(2):67

Hays, Donald G. Evolution of consultation in educational settings. 5(3):206

Hazen, Mary Ann. Dialogue as a process of integration in human systems. 6(2):119

Hendricks, Edward D. ACME study on fee arrangements, compensation, and employee benefits in management consulting firms. 4(2):159

Herron, Lanny. See Pearce.

Isgar, Tom. See Kirkhart.

Jamieson, David. Book review. 4(1):88

Jennings, Kenneth R. Testing a model of quality circle processes: Implications for practice and consultation. 7(1):19

Kennedy, Cille. See Levine.

Kennedy, James H. Invited commentary: Kaleidoscopic change in the landscape of management consulting. 7(3):192

Kilmann, Ralph H. A complete program for organizational success. 4(4):316

Kilmann, Ralph H. See also Covin.

Kindler, Herbert S. Stress management training for training professionals. 4(2):157

Kirkhart, Elizabeth, & Isgar, Tom. Quality of work life for consultants: The internal-external relationship. 5(1):3

Krantz, Jim. See Gilmore.

Kulick, Neal. See Thacker.

Larwood, Laurie. See Gattiker.

Lawler, Edward E., III. Invited commentary: Pay and organization development consultation. 6(4):281

Ledford, Gerald E., Jr. Transference and countertransference in action research relationships. 4(1):36

Levine, Irene Shifren, & Kennedy, Cille. The homeless mentally ill: A consultation challenge. 4(1):52

Levinson, Harry. Invited commentary: Consultation by cliche. 4(2):165

Liebowitz, Bernard. Resolving conflict in the family owned business. 5(3):191

Lippitt, Gordon L. Guidelines for international consulting. 4(1):76

Lippitt, Gordon L. Commentary on Coman-Johnson's "Intuition. . . ." 4(3):199

Lundberg, Craig C. Consultant feedback: A metaphor technique. 4(2):145

Lundberg, Craig C. Commentary on Coman-Johnson's "Intuition. . . ." 4(3):204

Lundberg, Craig C. An essay on teaching managerial consultancy: Instructional issues and key questions. 5(4):250

Lundberg, Craig C. The consultant as cultural spokesperson. 7(1):41

Lundberg, Craig C., & Finney, Michael. Emerging models of consultancy. 6(1):32

Lundberg, Craig C. See also Mathews.

Margulies, Newton. Commentary on Gatiker & Larwood's "Why do clients employ management consultants?" 4(2):132

Margulies, Newton. Invited commentary: Core values and political perspectives on organizational change. 5(3):219

Margulies, Newton. The consultant as political strategist. 7(1):31

Margulies, Newton, & Dundon, Mark. Organizational development and health organizations. 6(4):221

Maris, Terry L. Characteristics of successful management consultants. 4(3):258

Maris, Terry L. The management consulting profession: An empirical description. 7(1):45

Mathews, Charles S., & Lundberg, Craig C. Crisis consultancy and the Wizard of Oz. 6(3):194

Maxey, Charles. See Cummings.

Maxwell, M. Susanna. See Bloom.

Mazade, Noel A. Issues in consultation practice. 4(1):7

McConkie, Mark L. See Boss.

McLean, Gary N., & Pakenham-Walsh, Sam. An in-process model for improving quality management processes. 6(3):158

McWhinney, Will. Invited commentary. 4(1):92

Meggert, Sandra S., & Bloom, John W. Humor and the consultant. 5(2):127

Metzger, Robert O. Issues and approaches to management consulting education. 5(4):239

Miller, William C. A light touch communicates. 4(2):152

Mitchell, Rex C. Book review. 7(3):189

Miners, Ian A. See Moore.

Mitroff, Ian. Commentary on Backer's "The future of organizational consulting." 4(1):34

Mohrman, Susan Albers. A case of union-management cooperation: A contextual presentation. 6(1):43

Moore, Michael L., & Miners, Ian A. Hidden consequences in combining OD intervention with policy and technology approaches to absence control: Implications for consultants. 7(2):86

Moore, Michael L. Consulting for a union in the area of organization development: Issues and challenges. 7(3):153

Myers, Donald W. Preparation for EAP consulting work. 7(4):204

Noffsinger, David P. See Boss.

Norman, Alex J. Double play: Commentary on Hanna's "Personal meaning" & Owen's "Griefwork in organizations." 5(1):52

Oddou, Gary R. Rock climbing, rappelling, and sailing: Effective management and organization development tools? 6(3):145

Owen, Harrison. Griefwork in organizations. 5(1):41

Pakenham-Walsh, Sam. See McLean.

Pate Larry E. See Filley.

Pearce, John A., II, & Herron, Lanny. Customized strategies for service sector businesses. 7(3):135

Polley, Richard Brian. The diagnosis of intact work groups. 4(4):273

Polley, Richard Brian. The consultant as the shaper of legend. 6(2):102

Porter, Elsa A. Invited commentary: In search of the ultimate lexicon. 7(2):125

Posner, Barry. See Delbecq.

Poulfelt, Flemming. Towards a theoretical framework of management consultancy. 5(2):83

Poulfelt, Flemming. See also Berg.

Raia, A.P. The consultant as conceptual therapist. 7(1):34

Ramirez, Rafael. See Gilmore.

Ringsmuth, Elizabeth C. Academic partnerships as consultation. 4(1):64

Runkel, Philip J. See Schmuck.

Spencer, Sabina. See Adams.

Schindler-Rainman, Eva. Invited commentary: The modern consultant—a renaissance person. 4(3):264

Schmuck, Richard A., & Runkel, Philip J. Organization development in schools. 4(3):236

Seashore, Edith W. Invited commentary: Consultants' awareness and commitment to equality. 6(2):140

Shani, Abraham B., & Bushe, Gervase R. Visionary action research: A consultation process perspective. 6(1):3

Shani, Abraham B., & Stebbins, Michael W. Organization design: Emerging trends. 6(3):187

Shichman, Shula. See Solomon.

Short, Ronald R. Structural family therapy and consultative practice: A paradigm shift for OD. 4(2):99

Short, Ronald R. Structural family therapy and consultative practice in organizations. 4(3):207

Shumavon, Douglas H. Consulting in a cross-cultural setting. 5(3):177

Sims, Antonia Lopez, & Empey, Donald W. Implementing a school district staff development program. 6(3):198

Solomon, Esther, Shichman, Shula, & Gross, Warren. The challenge of organizational assessment: Interviews with leading professionals. 7(1):3

Stebbins, Michael W. See Shani.

Talley, Jerry, Ball, Geoff, & Walker, Henry. Theory into practice . . . and back? 5(4):274

Thacker, James W., & Kulick, Neal. The use of consultants in joint union/management quality of work life efforts. 5(2):116

Thomas, Bethel. See Fisher.

Walck, Christa L. See Harris.

Walker, Henry. See Talley.

Weisbord, Marvin. R. The organization development contract revisited. 4(4):305

Weiss, Joseph W., & Filley, Alan. Retrenchment consulting in the public sector: Issues and recommendations. 5(1):55

Weiss, Joseph W. Book review. 7(3):187

Wright, Robert, & Harper, Stephen C. The consultant as anthropologist—mapping client corporate cultures. 4(3):173

Zasloff, Mindy. A corporate perspective on employee assistance consultants. 7(4):235

SUBJECT INDEX

Volumes 4-7 (1985-1988)

The subjects for this index were selected for their usefulness in grouping and cataloging the articles appearing in the last four volumes of the journal. The subjects and entries under each are not intended to be exhaustive or definitive; however, we hope the index will be useful. The three numbers in each entry are: volume, issue (in parentheses), and the first page of the designated article.

Action Research

Transference and countertransference in action research relationships. 4(1):36

Action based modes of inquiry and the host-researcher relationship. 5(3):160

Theory into practice . . . and back? 5(4):274

Visionary action research: A consultation process perspective. 6(1):3

Clients and Client Perspectives

Transference and countertransference in action research relationships. 4(1):36

Why do clients employ management consultants? 4(2):119

Quality of work life for consultants: The internal-external relationship. 5(1):5

Occupational frame of reference and the identification of critical issues in large-scale change efforts. 7(3):174

A corporate perspective on employee assistance consultants. 7(4):ddd

Conceptual Frameworks and Paradigms

Meta-praxis, or toward a science of consultation practice (untitled Invited Commentary). 4(1):92

Structural family therapy and consultative practice: A paradigm shift for OD. 4(2):99

Structural family therapy and consultative practice in organizations. 4(3):207

Toward a theoretical framework of management consultancy. 5(2):83

Consulting with the strategic leadership perspective. 5(3):149

Emerging models of consultancy. 6(1):32

Personal alignment and professional commitments (Invited Commentary). 7(1):55

Contracting

The psychological contract: A key to effective organization. 4(4):284

The organization development contract revisited. 4(4):305

Creativity and Intuition

Intuition: A bona fide occupational requirement in the management consulting profession? 4(3):189

Culture, Organizational

The consultant as anthropologist—mapping client corporate cultures. 4(3):173

The consultant as the shaper of legend. 6(2):102

The consultant as cultural spokesperson. 7(1):41

Managing a megasystem transformation in the Ford Motor Company: A retrospective retrieval of the progress of cultural change. 7(2):67

Culture, Societal and Cross-Cultural

See International.

Development of Consultants

Consultant feedback: A metaphor technique. 4(2):145

Characteristics of successful management consultants. 4(3):258

The modern consultant—a renaissance person (Invited Commentary). 4(3):264

Decentralized internal consulting. 5(4):229

Issues and approaches to management consulting education. 5(4):239

An essay on teaching managerial consultancy: Instructional issues and key questions. 5(4):250

Professionalizing a profession: Increasing the competence of management consultants. 5(4):258

Theory into practice . . . and back? 5(4):274

Preparing a new consultant (Invited Commentary). 5(4):278

Preparation for EAP consulting work. 7(4):204

Diagnosis

The diagnosis of intact work groups. 4(4):273

The development of organizational diagnostic norms: An application of client involvement. 6(1):20

The consultant as the shaper of legend. 6(2):102

Diagnosing health-care providers and their systems: An entry design and its supporting theory. 6(4):265

The challenge of organizational assessment: Interviews with leading professionals. 7(1):3

Education Settings

Academic partnerships as consultation. 4(1):64

Organization development in schools. 4(3):236

Evolution of consultation in education settings. 5(3):206

Implementing a school district staff development program. 6(3):198

Employee Assistance Programs

Preparation for EAP consulting work. 7(4):204

Workplace drug abuse programs: Consultation issues and opportunities. 7(4):216

Organizing and operating an employee assistance consulting firm. 7(4):228

A corporate perspective on employee assistance consultants. 7(4):235

Ethics

Ethical guidelines for an OD/HSD professional. 5(3):212

The politics of consultation. 6(2):71

Family-Owned and Small Businesses

Resolving conflict in the family owned business. 5(3):191

Health Care Settings

Consultation in health care organizations (Invited Commentary). 4(4):346

Organizational development and health organizations. 6(4):221

Organization development in dentistry: A three-year change effort in a group practice. 6(4):236

Team building with nurse managers. 6(4):252

Diagnosing health-care providers and their systems: An entry design and its supporting theory. 6(4):265

Human Resource Management

Consultants' awareness and commitment to equality (Invited Commentary). 6(2):140

Pay and organization development consultation (Invited Commentary). 6(4):281

Hidden consequences in combining OD intervention with policy and technology approaches to absence control: Implications for consultants. 7(2):86

See also Employee Assistance Programs.

Industrial Relations

Organization development and labor law: Implications for practice/malpractice. 4(4):331

The use of consultants in joint union/management quality of work life efforts. 5(2):116

A case of union-management cooperation: A contextual presentation. 6(1):43

Consulting for a union in the area of organization development: Issues and challenges. 7(3):153

Industry (Consulting) Information

ACME study on fee arrangements, compensation, and employee benefits in management consulting firms. 4(2):159

The management consulting profession: An empirical description. 7(1):45

Kaleidoscopic change in the landscape of management consulting (Invited Commentary). 7(3):192

Internal Consultants

Quality of work life for consultants: The internal-external relationship. 5(1):5

Decentralized internal consulting. 5(4):229

International

Guidelines for international consulting. 4(1):76

International consulting—The development of global organization development and international organization development consulting (Invited Commentary). 5(2):139

Consulting in a cross-cultural setting. 5(3):177

Interventions and Techniques

A light touch communicates. 4(2):152

The consultant as the shaper of legend. 6(2):102

Rock climbing, rappelling, and sailing: Effective management and organization development tools? 6(3):145

The application of a task oriented team building model to a "newly large" organization. 6(3):175

Invited Commentaries

Meta-praxis, or toward a science of consultation practice (Will McWhinney). 4(1):92

Consultation by cliche (Harry Levinson). 4(2):165

The modern consultant—a renaissance person (Eva Schindler-Rainman). 4(3):264

Consultation in health care organizations (Myron D. Fottler). 4(4):346

"Promise not to tell"—A critical view of "confidentiality" in consultation (Robert T. Golembiewski). 5(1):68

International consulting—The development of global organization development and international organization development consulting (Donald W. Cole). 5(2):139

Core values and political perspectives on organizational change (Newton Margulies). 5(3):219

Preparing a new consultant (William G. Dyer). 5(4):278

Some observations on consultation and management (Leonard D. Goodstein). 6(1):63

Consultants' awareness and commitment to equality (Edith W. Seashore). 6(2):140

Important challenges that managers will face in the year 2000: Foci for educators and consultants (Andre Delbecq & Barry Posner). 6(3):208

Pay and organization development consultation (Edward E. Lawler, III). 6(4):281

Personal alignment and professional commitments (Samuel A. Culbert). 7(1):55

In search of the ultimate lexicon (Elsa A. Porter). 7(2):125

Kaleidoscopic change in the landscape of management consulting (James H. Kennedy). 7(3):192

Organizational Myopia (Alan M. Glassman). 7(4):245

Issues and Trends

Issues in consultation practice. 4(1):7

The future of organizational consulting. 4(1):17

Consultation by cliche (Invited Commentary). 4(2):165

Professionalizing a profession: Increasing the competence of management consultants. 5(4):258

Important challenges that managers will face in the year 2000: Foci for educators and consultants (Invited Commentary). 6(3):208

In search of the ultimate lexicon (Invited Commentary). 7(2):125

Kaleidoscopic change in the landscape of management consulting (Invited Commentary). 7(3):192

See also other Invited Commentaries

Legal Considerations

Organization development and labor law: Implications for practice/malpractice. 4(4):331

Analysis of state legislation introduced during 1987 regarding taxation of professional services. 7(1):51

Management Development

Training for organization impact. 6(2):131

Mental Health Applications

The homeless mentally ill: A consultation challenge. 4(1):52

Planning and shaping of the mental health delivery system of the future. 4(3):220

See also Employee Assistance Programs.

Organization Development (selective list—many others could be included)

Organization development in schools. 4(3):236

The psychological contract: A key to effective organization development consultation. 4(4):284

The organization development contract revisited. 4(4):305

Organization development and labor law: Implications for practice/malpractice. 4(4):331

Organization development and health organizations. 6(4):221

Organization development in dentistry: A three-year change effort in a group practice. 6(4):236

Team building with nurse managers. 6(4):252

Managing a megasystem transformation in the Ford Motor Company: A retrospective retrieval of the progress of cultural change. 7(2):67

Consulting for a union in the area of organization development: Issues and challenges. 7(3):153

Organization Type

Organization type and effective interventions: TRW Systems just ain't the same as Spicer Music Shop. 5(2):103

Contextual specificity in consultation: Similarities and differences between private and public sectors. 6(2):90

Customized strategies for service sector businesses. 7(3):135

See also Education Settings, Health Care Settings, International, Mental Health Applications, and Public Sector.

Planned Change

A complete program for organizational success. 4(4):316

Managing a megasystem transformation in the Ford Motor Company: A retrospective retrieval of the progress of cultural change. 7(2):67

From Egypt to the promised land: A change parable. 7(2):112

Power and Politics

Core values and political perspectives on organizational change (Invited Commentary). 5(3):219

The politics of consultation. 6(2):71

The consultant as political strategist. 7(1):31

Process and Psychological Considerations

Transference and countertransference in action research relationships. 4(1):36

Personal meaning: A conceptual framework for organizational consultation. 5(1):24

Griefwork in organizations. 5(1):41

"Promise not to tell"—A critical view of "confidentiality" in consultation (Invited Commentary). 5(1):68

Humor and the consultant. 5(2):127

Dialogue as a process of integration in human systems. 6(2):119

Crisis consultancy and the Wizard of Oz. 6(3):194

The consultant as political strategist. 7(1):31

The consultant as conceptual therapist. 7(1):34

The consultant as confidant. 7(1):38

The consultant as cultural spokesperson. 7(1):41

Productivity (and Quality Management, Quality Circles)

An in-process model for improving quality management processes. 6(3):158

Testing a model of quality circle processes: Implications for practice and consultation. 7(1):19

Public Sector

The homeless mentally ill: A consultation challenge. 4(1):52

Consulting terrains: A comparison of the public and private sectors. 4(2):134

Planning and shaping of the mental health delivery system of the future. 4(3):220

Retrenchment consulting in the public sector: Issues and recommendations. 5(1):55

Contextual specificity in consultation: Similarities and differences between private and public sectors. 6(2):90

Quality of Work Life

The use of consultants in joint union/management quality of work life efforts. 5(2):116

A case of union-management cooperation: A contextual presentation. 6(1):43

Strategic Management

Do external consultants influence strategic adaptation? 5(2):93

Customized strategies for service sector businesses. 7(3):135

Stress Management

Stress management training for training professionals. 4(2):157

Diagnosing health-care providers and their systems: An entry design and its supporting theory. 6(4):265

Techno-Structural Considerations

Organization design: Emerging trends. 6(3):187

Hidden consequences in combining OD intervention with policy and technology approaches to absence control: Implications for consultants. 7(2):86

Unions

See Industrial Relations.